

Raising Awareness Video

Huntington Society of Canada and the creators of the award-winning documentary “Do You Really Want to Know?” created a powerful short video about Huntington disease (HD) and genetic testing. The video depicts the struggle of those with HD and explains genetic discrimination. Help us spread the word, share it with your contacts. Click here to watch it now.

Sudbury family affected by Huntington’s disease

February 22, 2013 - Rita Duchene is working to establish a Chapter of the Huntington Society of Canada in Sudbury, Ontario. She and her brother Paul are a part of a large family where Huntington disease has been the norm their whole lives. Rita says, “I didn’t realize until I was older that other people outside of our family had Huntington disease.” Paul is now in a home and Rita works to make life better for Paul and all others who have Huntington disease.
